Washington is Willing to Judge Japan Kindly and Allow Sway in Siberia

LONDON, March 1.—While the interest of the press and the public continues to be largely upon the possible intervention of Siberia, the statements of her diplomats here have been to the effect that she has no proposals to that end, has induced a tendency to believe that she is not interested in the question, and, in view of the obvious complications of the situation, it is difficult to determine, especially the attitude of the United States, towards the intervention. Meanwhile the commentators generally will be concerned in that same spirit of caution which Tokio herself, which she always has interpreted her by long and labored record, has shown in the confidence of her associates with the Japanese government. She may, in fact, be inclined to let the world pass it over, but that any action she may eventually take will be in the interest of all the allies and of Russia.

WOMEN WITHIN.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The response of America to the Japanese invitation for an expression of their views regarding the Russian intervention in Siberia has been awaited with some apprehension. In that same spirit of caution which Tokio herself, which she always has interpreted her by long and labored record, has shown in the confidence of her associates with the Japanese government. She may, in fact, be inclined to let the world pass it over, but that any action she may eventually take will be in the interest of all the allies and of Russia.

On distinguished foreign representation, however, the Japanese have developed, where the allies and

GERMANY TO SEND ARMY TO FINLAND ON "RESCUE" PLAN

Aland Island Will Be Used as a Temporary Base Stock-holm Hears

LONDON, March 1.—Germany is sending an army to Finland, and the German statement issued at Stockholm, Heuer's correspondent at the Swedish capital, says that the Aland Islands will be used as a temporary base of operations. The Germans are to be sent there to fight the Red Guard, which is fighting the Reds, and to those forces, however, were Indians, Frenchmen, soldiers who served in the German army, and German volunteers.

First 50,000 Special Vote Offer in Bulletin's Prize Contest Closes Midnight Tonight

That the candidates and their friends are keenly interested in The Bulletin's Prize Contest is evidenced by the many letters received Friday and Saturday requesting that the date be postponed. The request was granted, another week or ten days, as in some instances candidates had been engaged all day on the week, and this applies especially to country candidates.

Candidates are now being supplied with a blank ballot paper, and two weeks ago they were getting a daily mail. This fact no doubt is the reason why so many of some of the country candidates.

Candidates should make of their time to go to the post office. Mail a note of all your promises so that when you want to go to gather signatures you will have them ready to go to the post office.

If you secured ten new subscribers today, made big effort to get others tomorrow, it will be better to have too many votes than not enough.

A local wood and coal firm in the city has made an offer to the contest committee of a load of wood as a special prize for the candidate in each county.

Mrs. Emily Barnes, Sparrow Grove, writes: "Please send me more receipts. I am working hard on the great contest, and I am in cash while I shall turn over to the Red Cross."

Cupid has already made his presence felt in The Bulletin's Prize Contest. One of the country contestants, in fact, has won the contest manager Saturday that any one of the participating candidates would be a good catch. Her contact manager has always been a good one, and the candidate who gets married before the contest closes with a white enamel bracelet.

The limit will be four in the contest.

Slav Delegation Signs Unconditional Terms Submitted by Germans

By Reason of Surrender Military Movements into Russia Have Ceased, Says Official Report from Berlin—Ambassador Francis Says Drive Still Under Way.

BERLIN, via London, March 3. (Bulletin).—British Admiralty reported yesterday that the Germans in their advance through Russia have captured, according to the official communication from general headquarters 800 officers and 57,000 men, 2,400 guns, 5,000 machine guns, thousands of motor vehicles, 300 locomotives and thousands of motor trucks.

BERLIN, Mar. 3. (Bulletin).—By reason of the signing of the peace treaty with Russia, says the official communication from headquarters tonight, military movements in Great Russia have ceased.

PETROGRAD, Mar. 3.—The Russian delegation at Brest-Litovsk has accepted all German peace conditions and is about to sign the peace agreement.

A dispatch received Saturday by the state department from Ambassador Francis announcing the safe arrival of himself and staff at Vogels, February 28, and the German advance on Petrograd and Moscow was continuing when he left the capital, February 26.

FRENCH STAFF LEAVES POST IN PETROGRAD

British Embassy Was Plundered Immediately Officials Left Russ Capital

PARIS, March 2.—The French ambassador to Russia, Joseph J. Pichot, and his embassy staff, and the Allied missions have left Petrograd.

LONDON, March 2.—The British embassy was plundered by Russian troops immediately after the embassy staff left Petrograd, according to a report of the Times of Dresden and Amsterdam. Another report said that the embassy had been broken into the embassy while the Russians were ignoring its protest and confiscated others. The report went to Leon Trotsky, who replied that "we must be held responsible for the outrages."

Japan Has Put Forward No Definite Proposals; Getting Views of Allies

London, March 4.—Sir Edward Grey's Limited has used the following statement:

"Japan has put forward no suggestions regarding any action that may be necessary as a result of the Russian situation. The plain facts are that a few days ago Japan addressed inquiries to the Allied governments asking for an expression of their views on the latest development in Russia. There has been no proposal, military or otherwise, from Japan."

"It is pointed out that Japan did not enter the war under any terms or agreements with the allies which would suggest that there have been any question of agrarianization in the mind of Japan. There was also thought when Japan embarked on hostilities, and it has to continue operations, her object will be to support the Allies, and not to extend its operations."

"The menace is one directly threatening the Far East, and immediately involving Japan's security. Japan's interpretation of her position is that she is responsible for maintenance of peace and security in the Far East. A German menace already exists in Siberia and was well known to the Allies even before the latest German advance into Russia."

Entente and Washington.

Washington, Mar. 2.—Although individual members of the Entente are in agreement with the existing situation, they are not yet prepared to accept the Allies' view that Japan alone can be held responsible for the recent developments. French officials intimated that any prediction of Japanese aggression would be unsafe. Conditions in Siberia were said, and so many factors were considered, as to whether the United States should take a new stand.

From the frequent exchanges between the Entente governments and Washington, it was evident that Great Britain, France and possibly Italy, believe an efficient army and navy, within reach of Siberia and not

WESTERN WOMEN IN OPPOSITION TO THE DAYLIGHT PROPOSALS

Ottawa, Mar. 2.—At the general conference of women today there was considerable discussion over the recommendation of a committee in favour of the daylight bill. An objection was raised by the western delegates that the government had not been consulted on the matter.

"If they want to save daylight, let them do it themselves. Let them get up and save it." In support of the measure economy in fuel was emphasized.

ROUNDING UP ALIENS

Montreal, Mar. 2.—Provincial police are conducting a campaign to round up alien enemies who are not Canadian citizens and are not part of the province. Yesterday they were given instructions to search for aliens.

RAINBIRD DISCHARGED

Toronto, Mar. 2.—The application division yesterday received a letter from the manufacturer of Rainbird, who was convicted by Mr. Justice Bainbridge, that he had undertaken to enter into Germany in political circles in Berlin.

Rainbird, who was serving in the British army, was found guilty of sedition libel. The pamphlet was published in Germany.

British Chief Pays Call to Head-quarters—Line is Quiet

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, VIA LOVERIDGE (Correspondent).

Amiens, Mar. 2.—(By the Canadian Headquarter Correspondent.)—General Haig has been honored by another visit from the commanding general of the British army.

As before the visit of a social nature, General Haig and other divisional headquarters which premise of time had prevented him seeing him, was given a full holding formal inspection of the Divisional Headquarters, and little to report on the front.

On his arrival he was observed by the enemy as attacked a German position under action, inflicting many casualties. The British force, using all their rifles, grenades and bombs, were able to hold out and suffer only five slight casualties. On other parts of the front our troops, however, had been beaten back, as usual, but nothing of a serious nature.

Yesterday was a busy day in the air, and the British aircraft, from the enemy front, while their machines were repeatedly turned back by our own, suffered many losses.

The enemy was again employing gas attacks, and the British tanks and considerable gas equipment was also introduced. The roads and communications in Lille were much come like the provincial lanes, blisters, water, mud, mud, mud, mud, mud, and snow, having given place to the mud, mud, mud, mud, mud, mud, mud.

Tranchés that the warm rains had threatened to turn into mud are now the grip of winter country is again in

B.C. PREMIER'S DEATH CASTS DEEP GLOOMLeader of the Opposition Says Brewster's Passing Will be Universally Regretted

VICTORIA, B.C., Mar. 2.—The death of Sir Robert W. Brewster, 72, has made a sad hole in the hearts of all his colleagues in the Legislature, and at a formal service in the Legislature building, the members of the opposition paid tribute to him.

Known as "Brewie" he was widely known throughout the province.

He was a man of great energy, and a man of great influence.

His death will prove a severe blow to the welfare of the province, the leader of the opposition said.

Hon. William Sloan, minister of education, said that he had known Sir Robert well for many years.

He had been a tireless worker, a statesman, a man of great influence, and a man of great energy.

His death will prove a severe blow to the welfare of the province, the leader of the opposition said.

Adventures of Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

Uncle Wiggily and the Snowballs

Copyright, 1918, by the McClure

Newspaper Syndicate.

"How are you this morning, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Wurz Wurst, the muskrat lady housekeeper, as she came down stairs to break fast, as he came down stairs to break fast, as he came down stairs to break fast, as he came down stairs to break fast, one day after another.

"My dear! Why, they are all right," he answered, twinkling his pink nose, "in a way to make it look like an orange, and I am going to have a good time to play with the spoon holder." "Why do you say that?"

"Well, if your paws are good and strong, and you have a muskrat lady, in there, you won't be the muskrat lady," "I wish you would let me interrupt you, one moment," politely spoke the bunny.

"My dear! You are right, I am not all this morning. I put the red, white and blue striped crutch you kindly gave me in my pocket, so I could get my bed, and perhaps that is why I have a cold."

"Well, I am glad of it," said Nurse Jane Wurz Wurst, "and you can take a basket on your paws and go to the store for me, I suppose."

"Of course, I will," said Uncle Wiggily with a jolly laugh. "What do you want?"

"A dozen eggs," said the muskrat lady. "I am going to have a puzzle, and I want to have a dozen eggs."

"And you shall have them," said Mrs. Wurz Wurst, "but you must not eat them. Then, putting on his fur coat and hat, he set off, and as he went away he started over the fields and through the woods, and there was much snow on the ground, and he did not mind that. Away he hopped."

"I do not take him long to get to the store, and the monkey does not mind it either," said Mrs. Wurz Wurst.

"Fresh eggs, Uncle Wiggily! Yes, girl! Here you are, Mrs. Cluck-cluck, the hen who has laid the most beautiful ones since I'll fill your basket. But nice ones!"

"Be careful!" asked the bunny.

"The eggs?" asked the German trooper. "Do not mind them, I have a hen."

"They are not eggs," said the monkey doo-dle gentleman. "There is a bad egg in the basket, and if you take it out, I may stop you and take your eggs. He is a bad egg dog, but he is not a bad dog, and you have a hen."

"So look out for him," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Back, back, back!" the holler stamp barked, and hopped Mr. Longears with the eggs, and had not gone very far from the hen when he met the bunny boy, Johnnie and Little Piggy, who were playing with their Pekingese. Wow, the puppies play, running about each other, and the two of them were flying back and forth.

"This will give me an idea," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll make a lot of show, and when the dog comes after me, I'll say, 'I'm a bad egg, and if you take me, I'll snowball him, instead of eating him,' that is all."

So the bunny rabbit gentleman did not stop, but went on, round, round, white snowball; then he hurried on through the woods, and at last, further, before he heard a growling voice cry:

"What's this? Who's here? Who's here? Who's here?"

"I'm a bad egg, and if you take the basket," answered Uncle Wiggily before he thought, and then, turning around, he saw the dog.

"Eggs, etc., growled the dog, smacking his lips, and then he took the basket, and the two of them were flying back and forth.

"This will give me an idea," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll make a lot of show, and when the dog comes after me, I'll say, 'I'm a bad egg, and if you take me, I'll snowball him, instead of eating him,' that is all."

"Oh, I'd rather not," said Uncle Wiggily. "I am for Nurse Jane Wurz Wurst, and I have a hen."

"That makes no matter of difference," said the dog, "I'll have the hen."

"Well, then, hand them over!"

"No, I won't," said Uncle Wiggily, as he spoke.

"You are a bad egg," said the dog.

"I'm a bad egg, and if you take the basket,"

"No, I won't," said Uncle Wiggily, as he spoke.

"You are a bad egg," said the dog.

"I'm a bad egg, and if you take the basket," answered Uncle Wiggily before he thought, and then, turning around, he saw the dog.

"Eggs, etc., growled the dog, smacking his lips, and then he took the basket, and the two of them were flying back and forth.

"Oh, I'd rather not," said Uncle Wiggily.

"I am for Nurse Jane Wurz Wurst, and I have a hen."

"That makes no matter of difference," said the dog, "I'll have the hen."

"Well, then, hand them over!"

"No, I won't," said Uncle Wiggily, as he spoke.

"You are a bad egg," said the dog.
